AS DIRECTOR

Townships Agree, With One Exception, To Handle

Own Cases.
POLICIES ARE OUTLINED
Work in City Will Be Handled
Through Commissioner's

Office.

The county commissioners and John Abel, county relief director, this morning outlined in detail the policies they will follow in administering relief in Marion after Dec.

1 following two meetings last night in which the city, county, township and relief officials discussed and analyzed the relief problem from every angle.

In the other, city council abandoned its plan to issue bonds to help finance WPA projects after City Solicitor Theodore H. Goff

Dr. Smith, who today said he

Requirements Changed
The county commissioners are working to outline their policies for taking over direct relief for unemployed persons and $12,000 for employable persons in the city of Madison, lighten some of the relief eligibility requirements, modify some forms of relief previously granted but voted to continue.

They employed Harry V. Kassel, who for the last 18 months has been a family visitor or investigator. He was hired by the commissioners at a salary of $1 a month to work under the direction of Mr. Abel. His principal duties will be to keep informed through investigators, of the needs of the different families, and to authorize all relief orders and vouchers. The commissioners say they will not authorize payment of any relief orders not cleared by the committee.

hini. At present, he is the only person the commissioners will be obliged to employ, the federal government having indicated it would provide other persons to round out a relief staff for at least a few weeks.

The commissioners abandoned the present form of cash reliefs given in the past by the federal government, board members explaining they did not have the legal right to authorize cash disbursements to clients. The order depending on the needs of the relief families, will include allowances for food, shelter, fuel, clothing, a limited amount of medical service and a limited amount of help on payment of utility bills. The allowances are expected, Mr. Abel said, to be approximately:

Twice a month the relief administration will mail orders to families on relief. Visitors or in-

To be eligible for relief, families must have been a resident of the city for at least one year during which they were not dependent on any welfare agency. Adoption of this policy, Mr. Abs said, probably will result in several relief families being dropped. However, the county will assist these families in returning to their legal placement of residence where they will become eligible for relief. He said

The commissioners decided that relief orders will be drawn only on stores that are home-owned. Fuel orders will be limited to cash dealers in Marion county.

OHIO GETS NEXT U. S. GRANGE CONVENTION

County Deputy Receives Word From Meeting in Sacramento, Calif.

Word was received here yesterday by E. A. Williams, Marion county grange deputy master, that the national grange convention will be held in Ohio in 1936. This information was forwarded to Mr. Williams from grange members attending the national convention now in session at Sacramento, Calif. The city in which the convention will be held in November of next year has not yet been named. Other states bidding for the convention were Pennsylvania and New York. The last time Ohio had the grange convention was in 1927, when it was held in Cleveland. Lewis J. Taler of Columbus was re-elected national master, and Harry Caton of Coshocton, Ohio, named national secretary at the California convention, Mr. Williams said.

DR. MATTOX SPEAKS AT P. T. A. MEETING

Dr. S. W. Mattox gave an interesting illustrated talk on his trip to South America at a meeting of the Pleasant Township Centralized school P. T. A. last night. Aside from the views taken on his trip in Cuba, through the West Indies and South America, Dr. Mattox presented an educational film on the mosquito from a medical

MRS. CRAWMER AGAIN HEADS ASSOCIATION

Officers and trustees of the Marion Mausoleum association were re-elected at the semi-annual meeting of crypt owners last night with the president, Mrs. J. E. Crawmer of Mt. Vernon avenue. Re-elected with Mrs. Crawmer are L. E. Schoenberger, vice president; Mrs. R. M. Midgley, secretary-treasurer; John Bain, W. C. Firstenberg, Carl Uleh, William Roeder and Miss Pansy K. Rauhauser, trustees. Business of the association was transacted. The next meeting will be held in May.

BOYS WITH SLINGS BEAT OLD HUNTERS

By The Associated Press
XENIA, O., Nov. 22.—The slingshot, famed weapon since Biblical days, retains its potency—much to the chagrin of several veteran Cedarville hunters. Charles Allen and Paul Marshall, Cedarville High school freshmen, went hunting armed with a slingshot, a small dog, and a field occupied by adult hunters, whose guns were primed for action. A cock pheasant rose suddenly. The youths fired with their primitive weapons. The pheasant fell wounded. The dog recovered the fowl and the boys proudly deserted the veterans.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Virgil Bryan Walters who passed away November 22, 1935.
"We do not know what pain you bore,
We did not see you die;
We only know you passed away,
And could not say goodbye.
When evening shades are falling,
In our hearts there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander,
To a grave not far away;
Where we laid our darling loved
Just one year ago today."
Mrs. Virgil Walters,
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Walters.

ROSEBERRY RITES
The funeral of John W. Roseberry, who died Wednesday in the Marion County home, was conducted today at 2 p. m. at the M. H. Gunders & Son funeral home on West Center street. Rev. M. L. Buckley, retired minister, was in charge. Burial was made in the Price cemetery near Essex.

Euchre was played, a score going to Mrs. Padlock and Mrs. Gertrude Norris. Mrs. C. Hemminger was consoled. A guessing box was won by Mrs. W. L. Connell. Mrs. Francis Davis was a guest.
The club will have a 6 o'clock dinner Dec. 5, probably at an up-town restaurant, and a meeting afterwards at the home of Mrs. L. N. Court of North State street.

CAMPAIGN SEEN AS PENSION PLAN TEST

Opponent of V. W. Main Says Race Will Be "Conflict of Economic Ideals."

The Michigan congressional election in which Verne W. Main, former Marion resident, will be the Republican candidate as a result of his landslide nomination this week on a platform advocating the Townsend plan for old age pensions, may be a test for the plan, Michigan political observers believe.
Howard W. Cavanaugh, Democratic nominee, said the campaign would be "a conflict of economic ideals," according to The Associated Press. He did not refer directly to the Townsend plan but said, "I will favor only such sound, safe and progressive principles as are conducive to good government for all people."
Mr. Main, a Battle Creek attorney, said he would work for passage of legislation sponsored by Dr. Townsend if elected.
Mr. Main is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Main of 582 East Center street.

MUSIC GROUP ON CHURCH PROGRAMS

Cleveland Mission Messengers To Be Heard by Marion County Congregation.
The Cleveland City Mission Musical Messengers will assist Rev. Charles Hart, pastor of the Morral, Grand Prairie and Wyandot Baptist churches, in the week-end services at each of the churches.
The group, made up of singers and instrumentalists, is widely known through the state in evangelistic work and also has been heard in programs broadcast over station WJAY at Cleveland.
Saturday night the group will be heard in an hour's program of unusual gospel numbers at the Wyandot church as a feature of the week's revival meetings which began Monday night. The meeting is set for 7:45 p. m.
Sunday morning at 10 the gospel singers will take part in the services at Grand Prairie church and

HAUPTMANN TO GET LIE DETECTOR TEST

Psychologist Asked To Conduct Experiment by Condemned Man's Counsel.

By The Associated Press
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, fighting for his life at the United States supreme court, will be given a lie detector test to determine the veracity of his testimony at his trial, Dr. William M. Marston said here yesterday.

A psychologist and discoverer of the test, Dr. Marston said he had been requested to make the experiment on the convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby by Lloyd Fisher, Hauptmann's counsel. Both Hauptmann and his wife are eager to have it done, the doctor added.

No date for the test, in Hauptmann's death house cell at Trenton, N. J., has been set.

"By using the lie detector," commented the director, "we may learn new facts about the kidnapping and killing."

Col. Norman Schwartzkopf of the New Jersey state police, David Wilentz, prosecutor of Hauptmann, and Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey have approved the test for the condemned man, Dr. Marston said.

NEW SHEEP, WALNUT BROUGHT INTO OHIO

Experiment With Valuable Asiatic Animal and Texas Nut.

By International News Service.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—Two novel experiments are in progress on the farm of John Davidson, 150 East Center street, near the Ohio Statehouse. One is the introduction into Ohio of Karakul sheep, a breed of Asiatic native sheep, and the other, according to the state veterinarian, who inspects them recently, the introduction of a new variety of black walnut.

The Karakul sheep is a small, compact, and hardy breed, according to the state veterinarian, who inspects them recently, the introduction of a new variety of black walnut.

2,000 KILLED IN THIS BLAST

This remarkable picture was snapped at almost the precise moment of a terrific explosion of an ammunition dump and arsenal near Lanchow, China, which levelled hundreds of homes and killed nearly 2,000 persons. Subsidiary explosions occurred immediately after the main concussion, and smoke from them can be seen rising at the base of the huge smoke pillar. (Associated Press Photo)

Actress Learns Bible Verses To Aid Her Memory

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 22—A young actress said today that she mastered the art of memorizing by committing "great chunks of the Bible."

Margaret Rawlings of London, whom Broadway calls "a second Katharine Cornell," recited a passage in her throat "blue" voice to prove she remembers.

The green-eyed actress who plays the role of a man's mistress in "Parnell," also knows whole pages of Browning and Milton.

"Milton," she said, "is the best to speak in the whole language, although Browning's monologues are pure stage."

Trailing the 19th century train she wears as "Katie O'Shea" in "Parnell," the actress recalled: "I had a childish craze for poetry. I didn't understand half of what I recited."

She won a medal for reciting in a poetry contest, and then John Masfield, the poet, told her she could act.

"Masfield pushed me over the edge into the theater," she said. "Every actor must have someone like that who says 'you can do it.'"

Her father was a schoolmaster; her mother, a musician. The actress was born in Japan, and spoke two languages before she heard of arithmetic.

She won a scholarship to Oxford.

but left to act in repertory.

"My first tryout was Cleopatra's death scene," she related. "I wouldn't have the cheek to act it now."

Still in her twenties, she has been married for eight years to Gabriel Toyns, a director.

1936 AUTO TAG ON DISPLAY AT CLUB

Plates Are White With Blue Figures; on Sale March 1.

A sample 1936 Ohio automobile license plate is now on display at the Marion Auto Club. The tags, on sale at the auto club office at 150 East Center street after March 1, have a white background with blue numbers.

According to word received at the local headquarters, applications for special license plate numbers must be made direct to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus after Jan. 1. Motorists who request special numbers will receive an application blank to be filled out and returned.

License plates for next year will be in use from April 1, 1936, to the following April. The date for use of the plates has been set ahead three months and dates of the quarterly reductions have been announced as July 1, Oct. 1 and Jan. 1.

ONE FOUND GUILTY IN VOTE FRAUD CASE

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—A jury convicted Oliver W. Gillette and acquitted Edward L. Lansing, both of Cleveland, yesterday on election fraud charges.

"It was a frameup," Gillette said following the verdict. He said if a motion for a new trial were denied, he would appeal.

Gillette and Lansing were charged with forging a name to a petition seeking a vote at the November election on proposed change in Ohio's tax laws.

POISONED SODA TOLL
REACHES 4 IN 'FRISCO

Three More Illnesses Also
Attributed to Contaminated Baking Compound.

By The Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 11.—A fourth death and three more illnesses attributed tentatively to a powder which spurred officials to speed their search for the source of the lethal compound.

George Purnaras, 45, a dishwasher, died in convulsions yesterday afternoon after taking bicarbonate of soda.

Poppy Hunter, Anthony Trabucco said the soda was from a gas station where he had been for three other recent deaths and illnesses here.

He investigated to determine if the dishwasher might have died from another ailment, however, when the proprietor of the restaurant reported he had been using the soda in cooking. None of his customers had complained, the restaurant owner said.

Trabucco seized the package which Purnaras used for chemical analysis.

The latest death came as officers were attempting to determine how 800 pounds of household soda, repacked from damaged packages of a salvage company, had become contaminated by two deadly poisons.

Theories of accident and mass murder plotting were advanced, both without substantiation.

JAIL WAS ALMOST TOO SMALL

Your Health
BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Infantile Paralysis.
WE ARE still faced with the problem of infantile paralysis. Fortunately, the recent outbreak of this dreaded disease was in mild form. Today, too, there is less serious paralysis following its attacks than used to be the case. We are heartened further by the promising results obtained by serum treatment.

Infantile paralysis, or "polio-myelitis," as the doctors call it, was recognized for several centuries. But it was not until 1840 that it was accurately described. In that year, a German physician named Jacob von Helme gave his report to the medical world.

Little was known as to its cause. As a matter of fact, it is only recently that the scientists determined that poliomyelitis is caused by a "filterable virus."

That term is applied to a germ so tiny that it cannot be seen under the most powerful microscope. Yet it will pass through a filter, as water will.

It is the young children who most commonly have infantile paralysis, but it also attacks adults. In its mild form the disease subsides without serious complications or deformity. But because a severe attack may lead to permanent disability there is always great fear concerning it. Community anxiety is aroused at the first sign of its presence.

Mothers always ask how to prevent their children from getting infantile paralysis. It is difficult to advise them, because the methods of control have not been accurately determined. Perhaps the most encouraging thing is to point to the very small number of cases in proportion to the population.

During an epidemic, or in a community where the disease is quite prevalent, certain precautions should be taken, of course. A young child should be kept out of places where large number of persons congregate. The child should play outdoors in the fresh air and sunshine, avoiding close contact with other children.

If the epidemic reaches alarming proportions, it may be wise to keep the child home from school. But the parent must trust the health officials to determine this. In any community the school authorities will close the schools if health conditions warrant such extreme action.

Early recognition of infantile paralysis is sometimes difficult. The onset of the disease may be sudden, showing symptoms like a cold, with mild fever and intestinal upset.

These signs are like those which indicate other infections. But medical advice should be had, because it is of great importance to make an early diagnosis of poliomyelitis; this should be done before paralysis develops, so that the serum may be given immediately.

If the resistance of the child is high, he will be able to throw off the disease without serious effects. But where the child is in poor health, or has little vitality, he is apt to suffer more severely. Perhaps most persons who become infected with this disease show little sign of muscular weakness.

JUDGE HOUGH LAID TO REST

Large Delegation from Marion Attends Rites for Soldier and Jurist.

A large delegation from Marion joined with persons high in official and private life and the public at large today to pay final tribute to the late Federal Judge Benson Walker Hough.

Judge Hough died of a heart attack last Tuesday. Veterans of war and the public at large today to pay final tribute to the late Federal Judge Benson Walker Hough.

Among those attending the funeral at Columbus and Delaware were Fred W. Warner, Grant E. Moser, Sr., Common Pleas Judge Hector B. Young, T. E. Andrews, Sheriff Fred J. Miller and Mrs. Miller, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Williams, William Laughman and Mrs. Laughman, Roy Miller, Robert Stafford, Russell Macon and E. K. Reed, president of the Dyer-J. Bird chapter of the Rainbow Lodge. The chapters "rainbow" wreath was among the flowers.

Hundreds of persons attended the 10 o'clock funeral service and viewed the body as it lay in state at the Broad Street Presbyterian church. Dr. Harry Cotton, pastor of the church, read the services, assisted by Rev. Rollin H. Walker of Delaware, a cousin of Judge Hough. Columbus Masses presented a thirty-third degree Masonic ring to Judge Hough's daughter.

Dr. Cotton, in reading the service, said: "The record has been written in blood. The larger story of achievement in the service of his community, his state and his nation, on the field of battle, and in the courts of justice, is a record written in the hearts of men and women whom he influenced, and written in the mind of the eternal record stands today."

Following services at the Columbus church the body was taken to Berea, where Judge Hough was born, for burial. A funeral procession of more than 100 automobiles filed slowly from Columbus to the burial place about noon today.

Brief services were read at the grave, followed by a salute by a military firing squad and a flag ceremony.

Participants were chosen from among the military ranks Judge Hough loved so well. He was colonel of the 106th regiment, Rainbow Division, during the World War. Co. D of Marion was in Col. Hough's regiment.

a crime in this state if relief funds are not furnished. There will be a statewide calamity."

Gov. Davey's tax program does not include state aid to counties for relief. He insists that approval of Cuyahoga bond issues will meet the problem. Bills awaiting the legislature include:

By Sen. Frank E. Whittemore, Republican of Summit, to authorize refunding up to Jan. 1, 1940, of all general bond issues, whether maturing or not, for a maximum of 30 years.

Special assessment bonds and certain classes of short term notes could not be refunded. This bill is designed to carry out Gov. Davey's recommendations for easing the plight of political subdivisions.

World Income Tax Rate. By Rep. Joseph J. Ogryn, Democrat of Cuyahoga, to extend for one year the present 6 per cent rate on the income from productive investments and increasing rates on these and all other intangible property. The increased revenues would go to the general fund.

By Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick, Democrat of Trumbull, to permit taxpayers to work out their delinquent taxes. The tax commission would set up a unit of delinquency and assess the minimum interest requirements on funds deposited in banks by the Lima municipal court.

Both branches will hold skeleton sessions pending formal return. Taxation committees will continue their hearings.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE POLICY IS DEFENDED

disasters benefitting from excessive tariff rates.

High Tariff Laws. Declaring the pact would benefit both countries, he said that down through the years high tariff lobby laws over-ran every "corridor, pass-way and dark corner" of the capitol. He said they forced through the "notoriously unsound Hawley-Smoot act of 1930 which more than any other factor, was responsible for our loss of exports to Canada aggregating $500,000,000."

With Clarence C. Dill, former Democratic senator from Washington state, suggesting that the lumber industry join with others in challenging constitutionality of the reciprocal tariff law, an attack on the Canadian-American pact came from still another source today. Sen. Schall, Republican of Minnesota, said in a statement:

"Star chamber tariff-making by the executive leaves the people whose industries and employment are affected just as much in the dark as under the Stuart tyranny, when the star chamber flourished."

DRIVER LICENSE LAW PASSED BY SOLONS

The provisions to which he objected have been corrected in the new bill.

The examination of drivers is to include a test of the applicant's knowledge of motor vehicle laws, a test of his vision and hearing and of his ability to understand highway warnings and direction signs.

Year's Experience Enough. A year's experience in driving properly, however, is deemed by the bill to be sufficient evidence of ability to operate an automobile. The license is to be renewed each Sept. 20, with the fee 40 cents each time.

Minors cannot obtain licenses without the written consent of parents or guardians.

A holder of a license is not allowed to permit a person without a license to drive his car.

Severe penalties for violations are provided.

One who gives false information in obtaining a license would be liable to a prison sentence of one to 10 years.

Those who drive an automobile while their licenses are suspended or revoked may face jail terms of two days to six months.

6000 Fine M Drunk. Driving an automobile while intoxicated may bring a fine of $500 or six months in jail or both.

A judge of any court of record may suspend or revoke any driver's license upon a plea of guilty or upon a conviction for:

Man slaughter growing out of an accident.

Operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Perjury or making a false affidavit under the act.

Any felony in the commission of which an automobile was used.

Falling to stop and disclose identity at the scene of an accident.

Failure or refusal to surrender a license would make the offender liable to a sentence of one to 10 years.

Chauffeurs came under the provisions of the bill and no owner is permitted to hire an unlicensed chauffeur.

Operators of tractors and road machinery used on the highways temporarily are exempted from the law's requirements.

Non-residents may not drive in Ohio more than 30 days without a license.

HOLIDAY ATMOSPHERE PREVAILS IN STORES

will be on in full blast next week, and Thanksgiving day will find a gay array of gifts in windows of the downtown shopping district.

Stores will take on a festive appearance in the latter part of the week when they don their tinsel and holiday decorations, and somewhere around the first week of December the decoration of the streets in greenery and colored lights will add further splendor to the city's business district.

As the holiday nears, Christmas trees will be added to the season's merchandise and with their arrival about the second week of December, Marion's 1935 Christmas season will be in full swing.

NEW RELIEF PLAN MAPPED BY BOARD

If they have an automobile or a telephone unless they can prove that these make it possible for the family to earn a small income, Mr. Abel said. He added that relief allowances to families would be reduced in proportion to the income they derive from use of the automobile or telephone or from any other source.

No Hospital Treatment. The commissioners decided they would no longer hospital care and treatment, nor be responsible for operations either major or minor, for relief families. These forms of medical attention will become an obligation of the subdivision in which they live, it was explained. The commissioners have agreed to pay the cost of other forms of medical attention for relief families on the following basis: 30 cents for an office call, $1 for a home call, $10 for obstetrical cases. Relief families will be given the privilege of selecting their own doctors, provided the doctor selected agrees to serve at that rate, the commissioners said. They added that the number of hours or office calls for each case would be limited to two a week excepting in cases of emergency in which special permission for more frequent calls must be obtained from Mr. Abel.

Shelter will be provided on the same basis used by the federal government. The commissioners will allow landlords of relief families refunds on their real estate taxes for the property occupied by the relief families, and will add to this allowance a small amount of cash ranging from $2.50 a month upward. In the past, the average cash allowance for this purpose has been $3.50 a month.

Must Petition Board. The commissioners decided that the seven townships that formerly were part of the county relief administration and received funds from the federal government will be required to petition the commissioners by resolution asking that they be permitted to handle their own relief.

To finance their relief program, the commissioners will have approximately $50,000 from an emergency relief bond issue. However, part of this amount must be allocated to townships that have exhausted their relief funds. Mr. Abel said he expected the balance, after township allocations had been made, to be sufficient to finance the program for at least two months.

The commissioners said they hope the state legislature by that time will have adopted legislation making it possible to get additional money for relief. All existing sources of relief revenue have been tapped, they said.

County Meeting. Last night's meeting of the county commissioners, township trustees and relief officials in the common pleas courtroom was featured by the announcement that all but one of the county's 15 townships will handle their own relief loads if the county commissioners will help townships that are now out of money and help by statements of Mayor Clarence A. Bull and County Commissioner J. J. Cusick that they hoped the handling of relief in the city could be continued in charge of Relief Director Abel.

It was emphasized that decision of the township trustees to handle the distribution of relief in their respective townships only provided for the care of roughly 10 per cent of the county's relief load. The remaining 90 per cent is in the city, and it was during the discussion of how to distribute relief to the city's cases that Mayor Bull and Mr. Cusick spoke.

In answer to their statements, Mr. Abel said he understood he was to remain on the job and relief director of the city and relief director of the county, for at least a short time, possibly a month, and would be willing to serve as relief director without cost to the county, as long as the federal government would maintain his job. He also said the relief headquarters probably will remain at their present location on South Prospect street at least through December.

The meeting in the courtroom was placed in charge of Mr. Abel by J. O. Weiss, chairman of the board of county commissioners. Seventy-five township officials and city officials and a number of county officials are present.

Mr. Abel first explained that the federal government is withdrawing from direct relief on Dec. 1. He said the federal government has been carrying on all relief work in the past in Marion city and seven townships that had exhausted local funds for that purpose. The remaining eight townships still have sufficient money for relief and have been caring for their families from township funds, he said.

He called on trustees of the seven townships now receiving federal help and asked them how they would like to distribute relief after Dec. 1. With the exception of John Buck, who is starting his twenty-fourth year as a trustee of Sall Rock township, the trustees answered they preferred to hand out relief in their respective townships provided the county will help them finance the work Mr. Buck said he was not prepared to make a decision. Further inquiry by Mr. Abel showed that of these seven townships, Marion, Claridon and Montgomery now have enough money in their treasuries to take care of relief needs for a short time and will not need any financial help from the county commissioners. The other four, Big Island, Prospect, Salt Rock and Waldo, reported they have no funds.

Relief and will need the county's help. Mr. Abel advised them to get in touch with the commissioners after Dec. 1 and arrange for an allocation of funds from the $50,000 emergency relief bond issue authorized by the commissioners.

Mr. Abel asked if any of the eight townships that have been handling and financing all of their relief from township funds in the past will need county help. There were no answers to his question, and he said apparently these townships will be able to continue their relief work without funds from the county.

Relief records show that the seven townships that have been receiving help in the past from the federal government now have 102 employable persons and 44 unemployable persons on their relief rolls. Necessity of providing WPA projects to put the employables to work was emphasized briefly by Mr. Abel and O. N. Essex, WPA engineer for the county. As men are given WPA jobs, they are removed from the relief lists, and consequently the townships are lightened their relief load, Mr. Abel pointed out by cooperating with the federal government in planning WPA projects. It was pointed out.

To Provide Medical Care. It also was decided at the meeting that the township trustees should provide for medical attention for their relief families in the most satisfactory way they could work out.

When discussion of the relief problem switched to the city's cases, Mayor Bull said he felt the city is not in position to take over the distribution of relief and urged that an effort be made to keep the present organization headed by Mr. Abel to handle it.

Mr. Abel then directed the discussion to the problem of providing medical attention for relief clients in the city when the federal government's contracts with Marion physicians expire. He said doctors have been underpaid for their services in the past due to limitations on the amount of money that can be spent in the county in a one-month period, and said the city and county must make definite arrangements to finance the medical work on a more equitable basis. Whether one or more doctors would be given the job under contracts or contracts of fees for all physicians to follow in caring for relief clients will be decided, Mr. Smith, city health commissioner and former city physician for relief clients, said at least three physicians would be required to give proper medical attention to the 441 cases now on relief.

Dr. Frederick C. Smith, mayor-elect, spoke briefly. He said he was not familiar enough with the relief problem to express any opinion, but wished to study it thoroughly and arrange for the city to "do its share" after Jan. 1.

City Will Snap. While county and township officials studied the direct relief problem last night, city council, meeting in a special session at the city building, struck a snag in its efforts to finance the city's share of the huge works relief program set up by WPA officials.

The snag was City Solicitor Theodore B. Ochs' statement to council that the city is dangerously close to the legal limitations governing the amount of bonds a municipality can issue. Council had planned to issue $7,000 worth of bonds to help finance the WPA program, but abandoned this plan in view of the city solicitor's statement.

Apparently there remained only one other source for the city to seek funds—next year's gasoline tax and automobile license tax money the city will receive from the state. Before taking action to obtain the money from this source, council decided a meeting should be held with Dr. Frederick C. Smith, mayor-elect, to ask approval of the plan. The expectation is to arrange a meeting of city officials with Dr. Smith for tonight.

If the city can raise $5,000 instead of the $7,000 originally sought in the bond issue, another large project could be financed, council was informed by O. N. Essex, WPA engineer. Anxious to get the WPA program into full swing as soon as possible in order to preserve money available for direct relief, council enlarged its original $7,000 program and will try to raise $9,000 instead.

Issue Due Soon. City Solicitor Ochs, in explaining the circumstances that stand in the way of issuing city bonds at this time, told council that $12,000 in bonds must be issued soon to take up city notes issued several months ago to purchase equipment for the police and fire department and for the health department. When this is taken into consideration, it does not appear advisable for the city to issue more bonds, the solicitor said.

Deciding on the plan of seeking $9,000 from next year's revenue to finance the WPA work, council authorized City Clerk J. Altman Rauh to arrange a meeting tonight, or as soon as possible, between Mayor-elect Smith, W. M. Fabian, Service Director C. K. Mercer and T. S. Cuthers city engineer. The engineer and Mr. Mercer will outline the WPA program for Dr. Smith, and his approval of the plan to appropriate $9,000 will be asked.

Mr. Fabian explained that city officials wish to consult with Dr. Smith before taking action to appropriate funds, because the appropriation would leave a shortage in city funds at the end of this year, and as a consequence it would be up to the next administration to make up the shortage.

The city receives approximately $50,000 annually in gasoline tax and automobile license tag money. Mr. Fabian estimated these funds must be used for street repair and maintenance, unless permission of the state tax commission is granted to divert them to other uses. The $9,000 would finance the city's share of more than $200,000 worth of WPA projects now set up and awaiting the city's OK, he said.

Excess Budgeting. Mr. Essex briefly outlined the works program, which includes a huge blanket street construction and street repair project, calling for an expenditure of $4,457 in federal funds. The project embraces resurfacing and widening a number of streets in the city, and extensive repairs on others. Other work would include macadamizing various main streets and repaving main roads and patching holes. The

50 ON CO. DEALERS AT MARION MEETING

This District Represented at Conference in Elks' Lodge Hall.

Fifty Marion district dealers and employees were entertained by the Pure Oil Co. Wednesday night at the Elks club. They were brought together to discuss the service policy in the immediate future in connection with the introduction of a new gasoline.

Several executives from the Columbus offices attended the meeting, which was conducted by W. E. Moorehead, Marion district manager.

Among the Columbus men present were the four speakers, I. W. Dorn, assistant zone manager, A. G. Moore, special representative, E. P. Burke, service station supervisor, V. H. Crouch of the real estate department.

to determine means of executing the recommendations.

The survey committee submitted the last of more than 25 reports Wednesday. The final report wound up a series on the welfare department and recommended reorganization. It said "collected" appointments have concentrated the interests of thousands of helpless wards of the state."

Col. Sherrill observed "the survey has been completed without any expenditure whatever from the public funds of the state of Ohio. It was financed solely by private contributions."

"The entire Ohio government survey effort has not been influenced or affected in the slightest degree by any consideration of partisan politics. It has been purely a business survey to establish the facts."

Gov. Davey appointed the survey committee, composed of 140 business men, last March to investigate and report means of effecting economies in all departments of the state government. The committee served voluntarily without compensation.

Survey officials said today the committee could continue to function through the medium of some continuing permanent organization. Herbert N. Lape of Columbus, chairman of a "how about it" committee composed of members of the survey, charged the governor last month with delaying action on recommendations. The governor countered that some survey reports "broke faith with me." He declared that some reports had been given the color of discrediting his administration.

John M. Carey, the governor's executive secretary and chairman of the "get it done committee" said "the actual saving to the taxpayers would be from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year."

Map Plans for Baptist Youths' Convention in Akron Nov. 29 to Dec. 1.

Sixty young people from Oshtemo, Grand Prairie township, File Memorial and Trinity Baptist churches of Marion attended a rally last night at Trinity church, held in the interest of the state Baptist youth people's convention which will be held Nov. 29-Dec. 1 in Akron.

Sixteen of the group indicated they would attend the convention. Clyde Forney of Trinity church conducted devotionals preceding a talk by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood of Trinity church on the convention program. Miss Emma Osterholt, president of the young people's organization of the Marion Baptist association, was in charge of the meeting.

Miss Helen Smith of File Memorial church and Miss Jean Wick of Trinity church were in charge of games. Refreshments were served.

FORMER MARIONITE DIES IN CLEVELAND

Mrs. Flora Felix, Girlhood Friend of Mrs. Harding, Passes Away.

Mrs. Flora Webster Felix, 75, daughter of one of the early pastors of the Methodist church in Marion, died yesterday at a school friend of the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding, died yesterday in Cleveland.

Mrs. Felix lived in Marion in the 70's in the church parsonage across the street from the house at 254 East Center street where Florence Kilgus, who was later to become mistress of the White House, lived with her father Amos Kilgus.

Mrs. Felix, whose husband is Dr. Frank C. Felix, died at the home at 1944 Argyle oval. The funeral service will be held in Marion Sunday, the Associated Press reported.

The Webster family has a lot in the Marion cemetery and Mrs. Felix, son by a former marriage, Harry Garrison, is buried there. Her father, Rev. L. C. Webster, who was pastor of Epworth church from 1875 to 1878, and mother, are buried in the family lot.

Mrs. Felix has been away from Marion for many years.

Surviving with the husband are a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell who is living in California, and a grandson, William Ulmer of Cleveland.

FIVE HIGH OFFICERS QUIT NATIONAL GUARD

By The Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—One of them expressing "hope" that "sense of honor in high places" would be restored in the regiment, five ranking officers of the 147th infantry, historic unit of the Ohio National guard, had placed their resignation today before state military authorities.

The five are Lt. Col. Edwin D. Woelner, executive officer and second in command under Col. Hugo Rudolph, Maj. Harry J. Patterson, commanding the first battalion, Maj. Charles W. Gravenkemper, plans and training officer; Maj. Williams Morris Hicks, regimental surgeon, and Capt. Lee Halterman, regimental adjutant.

Submitted to Maj. Gen. Benson W. Hough, late commander of the 37th division, the resignations normally would be referred to the adjutant general's office, military circle said Maj. Gen. Hough died Tuesday.

Col. Rudolph recently was acquitted by a general court martial of charges preferred by Maj. W. Morris Hicks of the regiment, after Hicks himself had been tried on charges brought by Rudolph.

'36 VOTE DRIVE TO BE FURIOUS

By Sawyer and Bricker Expected To Lead Onslaughts on Political Battlefield.

BY CARL L. TURNER, International News Writer
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—The Ohio political campaign is being set for a 1936 campaign that will make that of two years ago seem pale in comparison.

Most of the fireworks in the primaries will issue from the Democratic backyard. Gov. Davey, of course, will seek re-nomination. It is almost certain he will be opposed by former Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati.

Whether there is a third major candidate may depend largely upon Davey. If his re-nomination appears in doubt to himself, some observers think the governor will induce a third man to run, thus dividing the Davey opposition and virtually assuring re-nomination.

Sawyer Likely To Run
Latest word from Cincinnati is that Sawyer, edged out by Davey in the 1934 primary, will formally declare his candidacy in the near future, perhaps the first week in December.

The Republicans are endeavoring to avoid a "cat-and-dog fight" in the primary, but it remains to be seen whether their efforts in this direction bear fruit.

There is no more doubt about Attorney General John W. Bricker seeking the Republican nomination than there is about Davey asking for a second term.

During the last few weeks there has been a steady stream of Republicans calling at Bricker's office, most of them at his invitation. Their mission was not to seek legal advice. Politics and the 1936 primary were foremost in their minds.

There has thus far been no definite indication whether Clarence J. Brown, head of the Republican ticket in 1934 and former secretary of state, will bid for that honor again next year. Brown has many friends in the capital and a good portion of them believe he will run.

Inquiry Demanded
The acrimonious exchange of complimentary epithets by Attorney Herbert S. Duffy, twice the Democratic nominee for attorney general, and Gov. Davey and his aids has created a widespread demand for a legislative investigation of the liquor department.

As long as the state is in the liquor business, with domination of that vast industry in the hands of the prevailing political party, whether it happens to be Democratic or Republican, it is safe to predict no legislative session will pass without several resolutions for investigation being introduced.

But Attorney Duffy's sworn charges that he was told to "procure a sizeable fee" and see Democratic State Chairman Poulson if he wanted a Cleveland drugist client to obtain a state liquor agency, has made the present demand for a probe acute.

Akron's Rep. George Harter (D) offered a resolution for a sweeping investigation of the liquor department some time ago, but leaders of his party succeeded in delaying consideration, overriding strenuous protests from Harter and other foes of state monopoly liquor control.

With the house back in session, this time to consider the pressing problem of taxation, Harter will revive his demand for adoption of the resolution. But legislative observers are not counting on many worthwhile results even if it is adopted.

Recalling the futile probe of alleged extravagance in the administration of state relief and countless other abortive probes, they realize the party in power is in a position to place insurmountable obstacles between the probes and results. First of all, the most important, it is in a position to name the personnel of the inquisitorial body.

Decided By Davey
Matching Attorney Duffy's affidavit is the categorical denial of the governor and Chairman Poulson, as well as Davey's former executive secretary, Municipal Judge Dan W. Duffy of Cleveland, that any such suggestion was ever made to Herbert Duffy. They claim the latter is disgruntled because he was not appointed state insurance commissioner.

An amusing sidelight of the Duffy charges and their refutation by the other Duffy was the latter's revelation that Herbert Duffy assertedly endeavored to convey the impression that he was Dan Duffy's cousin, presumably to impress clients with the weight he was supposed to have in the governor's office.

Judge Duffy heatedly denied any such relationship existed and took the other Duffy severely to task for implying that it did, as the Cleveland charges.

leave her with only an allowance which would enable her to live comfortably in the home he was leaving his brother; the man in question, one Rob Crocker, would not go through with the marriage and that before final disposition of the estate was made, she would have found him out, and would have turned to some one more fitted to the fine womanhood she represented.

"Farnsworth also asked the attorney to watch his daughter, and should she attempt to marry Crocker, to see she did not without first ascertaining whether or not a woman living with Crocker's parents, near Roseburg, was Crocker's first wife, and if the child, living there was not Crocker's son."

"That's why he would never take me to his people," Anne interjected. "I kept insisting that we at least drive out to see them, and Rob always found some excuse."

"Rob always would find some excuse, Anne," said Kellogg. "But the more you hear about his activities for the last few months, the less you think of his brains. I've never seen such a fool idea."

"Anne smiled a little shamefacedly. 'You're right as usual—but the plan almost worked so far as I was concerned.'

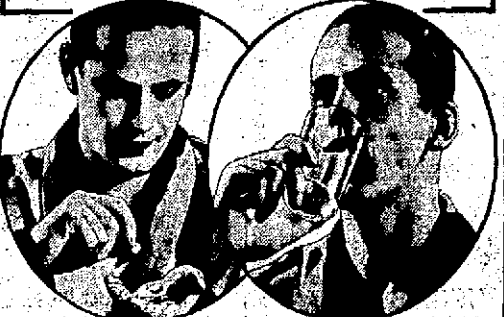

"How could you know?" demanded John Neuman loyally, and the Judge smiled a little private smile as he watched the young man and Anne. John went on:

"Luke Farnsworth learned that day, here in Astoria, that his first wife had gained a divorce for cruelty, and that Crocker's parents, recognizing the truth of her charges, had taken her in."

"I told him," Teela put in meekly. "I could not have my brother's baby made unhappy by such a man."

2 Things to Do TO EASE COLD INSTANTLY

Discomfort and Aches Go Almost Instantly This Way

1. Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in a glass of water. Gargle with this water three or four times a day.

Why BAYER Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.

In 2 Seconds By Stop Watch

A Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. What happens in some cases happens in your stomach—Genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets start "baking" had of pain a few minutes after taking.

THE pictured directions above show perhaps the quickest, simplest and most modern method yet discovered to combat cold and sore throat.

Your own doctor will approve this way. Millions of people have discarded "cold killers" and patent nostrums for this modern way. It relieves the average cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Note that all you do is this. Two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water.

Three Bayer Aspirin tablets, crushed and dissolved in 1/2 glass of water as a gargle. Gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back to permit this medicated gargle to reach the irritated membranes of the throat.

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally acts to fight a cold almost instantly; AND—eases the aches and pains that accompany most colds.

The gargle acts instantly like a local anesthetic to soothe pains in the throat and to ease throat irritation.

Try this way. You will be amazed at how quickly you can ease a cold. Be sure, though, to get Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN tablets. They dissolve almost instantly in the stomach. Hence start working almost instantly. And also, dissolve thoroughly enough in water for use as a gargle.

THREE MAJOR GAMES ON RADIO SATURDAY

Three major football games, including the Ohio State-Michigan game, will go over network stations Saturday afternoon.

The Ohio-Michigan broadcast will be over WLW and WJR, Detroit, about 2 o'clock. NBC-WFAP network and WTAM will carry the traditional Yale-Harvard game, and NBC-WJZ net will carry the Dartmouth-Princeton tilt.

Married Comrades

BY ABLE GARRISON

MARY'S PITEOUS query, "Has he fainted?" coming at the end of her half-hysterical saga of Noel's accident, found Mr. Gibbs in the midst of swift, efficient action. He had been busy all the time that she was talking, but it was sure that he had not missed a word of her excited story.

Skilfully he brought our boat within touching distance of the other, and, with a low direction to the other boat, and a loud shout against it for a second, he stepped lightly but surely into the craft which held the marooned honeymooners. Kneeling by Noel's side, he eyed him closely and felt his pulse and forehead.

"No, he isn't completely out," he said, "but he yielded quickly, and I was sure that I recognized relief in his voice. Wondering if perhaps he had used a ruse to rouse Noel, I was caught back from speculation to reality as Mr. Gibbs said sharply: "Mrs. Graham."

"Yes," I answered briskly. "What can I do?"

"You know how to row a boat, don't you?"

"Yes, not well, but I can manage one."

"Good! Change carefully to the middle seat—don't stand up—we don't want another spill—but crouch along. Then row off that way"—he pointed out the direction—"a few feet, and wait until I get this boat off. When I start rowing, follow my course exactly, keeping a few feet behind me, until we reach the clear water, where you won't have to be so careful."

I silently resolved to keep directly behind him all the way home, but I knew better than to make any audible comment to a man confronted with the ticklish task that was his.

"You'll have to get farther up in the boat," he was saying to Mary. "I'll take care of your husband"—he knelt by Noel's side as he spoke—and Mary obeyed his direction without protest.

"There! That's far enough," he said before she reached the stern of the boat. Then he spoke to Noel, raising his voice as he had done before.

"Old man, I'm going to haul you a foot or two, to where your wife is sitting," he said cheerily. "It won't be necessary for you to move a muscle. Just let yourself go limp. It won't hurt you a bit for I'm very strong, and used to these emergencies."

He justified his words, not only in the handling of Noel, who in another minute was huddled against Mary again, his head in her lap, but in the skillful manner in which, using the oars as levers, he pushed and pulled until the boat floated clear. Then, still tending off the rock with the one oar while he paddled with the other, he maneuvered the boat into deep water, and called to me.

"Don't follow me too closely, Mrs. Graham. I don't want you

GUFFEY LAW CHALLENGED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12.—The Pittsburgh Coal Co., largest bituminous coal producer in the country, today challenged the constitutionality of the Guffey coal control act. The company, a Mellon interest, asked the federal court to enjoin collection of penalties and taxes under the act.

"Little spots would float before my eyes, and add to my confusion. I'd try lying down but this seemed to make it worse. It stopped over the blood seemed to rush to my head. I've been bothered for years with this dizzy condition and often had raging headaches and pains in the back of my head."

"After cleaning the house or doing my other duties there would be sharp pains across my back over my kidneys. My legs would get cramps in them and I could tell when the weather was going to change."

"Vendol has proven wonderful in my case. I'm now entirely free of dizziness, never have a headache or spots before my eyes. That burning, gassy, bloated feeling in my stomach has been relieved and my nerves have calmed down. I haven't had a pain in my back now for weeks."

"I find that Vendol started my bowels to act regularly every day and this is something I haven't done for years. Since taking Vendol I sleep sound, and I find that nothing I eat upsets my stomach."

All good druggists sell Vendol, so do not let any person confuse you by offering a substitute with a name that sounds like Vendol. You can always get the genuine from Heaney & Cooper, also W. N. Mann Pharmacy, Adm.

Difference.

The strict buying of bread to make it self-inflation to its cost is considered an excellent example of stupidity. Yet, the same method of protection is being urged on the public schools in some parts of the United States by anti-communists.

Well meaning persons are saying that the best way to combat the spread of communism is to keep all information concerning it from school children. They recommend that it be ignored in the classroom. They would enforce their viewpoint by requiring school teachers to take an oath not to teach communism.

Communism is, unfortunately, one of the facts of life. Russia, one of the great powers, has adopted communism. In every other great power there is a communist minority asserting itself. There can be no real understanding of politics in the modern world without understanding what communism is and what causes it.

Communism should not be advocated in the public schools of the United States, for the obvious reason that it is a political philosophy which, in practice, is alien to American principles. There is, however, a sharp difference between advocating communism and teaching it. If communism is as unworthy as anti-communists are sure it is, the best way to check its spread in the United States is to teach the truth about it. To attempt to suppress all information concerning it is to give it an attraction for the inquisitive it does not have when it is understood. It should not be impossible to distinguish between advocates of communism and real teachers, to whom communism is a fact that needs to be explained. The advocate, an individualist minority, could be handled most effectively by giving the real teachers the right to combat their propaganda with the truth.

It's a Big Country.

Many good citizens were upset Wednesday by a Virginia mountaineer jury's finding of guilt in the case of Edith Maxwell, charged with murdering her father. It was a case in which extenuating circumstances seemed to outweigh the crime. Yet, the jury ignored them. Miss Maxwell has been sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary.

Miss Maxwell, a school teacher, killed her angry parent accidentally when he chartered her for returning home late after a date. The crime was committed with the heel of a slipper. Her father, according to testimony, was intoxicated.

Obviously, judged by external standards, Miss Maxwell killed her father in self defense. External standards, however, are not the standards of Waco county, Virginia, which lies in that state's isolated mountain region. The male mountaineer is a superior being. The father is a supreme being in his own household. Murder is murder; there are no extenuating circumstances.

Similar situations exist in Alabama, where the Scottsboro case is being reopened again. In California, where Tom Mooney fights for his freedom, in Massachusetts, where Sacco and Vanzetti, anarchists, were convicted and executed for murder. The United States is a big country—so vast that abstract conceptions of what justice should be sometimes are not acceptable to the inhabitants of separate sections of it. Virginia mountaineers are aghast, no doubt, at some of the miscarriages of justice they hear about in Ohio and other places "out in the world beyond."

Broad Construction.

In a brief filed by Attorney General Cummings with the U. S. supreme court in the Hoosac Mills case attacking AAA processing taxes, the following paragraph appears:

"The general welfare clause of the Constitution should be construed broadly to permit the levying of taxes to raise revenue for any purpose conducive to the general welfare."

This significant defense of new deal legislation is being adopted all along the line. At the outset, however, it will occur to many Americans to wonder what could not be found constitutional under a broad interpretation of the general welfare clause. Every administration does what it believes necessary for the general welfare of the country. It's a phrase that could be stretched to cover everything under the sun, if politicians were ever permitted to start stretching it.

Hunting For a Policy.

The current discussion of relief policy, reaching a climax in President Roosevelt's promises to the United States conference of mayors that the federal government will continue to finance relief after the end of the current fiscal year, amounts down to one hard fact. The United States, after five years of dealing with an aggravated relief problem, still is hunting for a satisfactory policy.

At the beginning of the current period of acute unemployment, local responsibility for relief was the preferred policy. Gradually, then rapidly, the policy was shifted to federal responsibility with local assistance. At present, an attempt to reverse the trend is being made, without much success. State and local governments deny they are able to do what they are being asked to do. Their spokesmen look at the future pessimistically.

President Roosevelt's statement to the mayors seems to say that local government will not be expected to do what it is unable to do. In other words, nothing definite is going to be decided until further notice. The new formula is tentative. The federal government will continue to lend a helping hand whenever and wherever necessary. Unfortunately, all this leads to nowhere. It is not satisfactory.

No hint is given as to what the Roosevelt administration has in mind for the future. Does the administration contemplate continuance of the present style of work relief? Does it intend to abandon work relief and to provide relief in the form of contributions to states and local governments, matched by local funds? These are questions which bear directly on the problem of government financing. They must be answered by the next session of congress. It is assumed it is not too soon for Mr. Roosevelt to begin making proposals for the policy to be followed in the next fiscal year.

Revival.

Some commentators have been brazen enough to rule tariff dead as a political issue. Republicans and Democrats, they believe, are as of one mind on it. Both, realizing tariff is a local argument, have seen the wisdom of yielding to pressure for protection.

The reciprocity agreement with Canada suddenly has challenged the supposition that tariff isn't a political issue any more. The old bitterness is cropping out. Some Republicans are shouting for the policy; others are waiting until they can estimate more or less accurately the extent of the robbery.

The threat of a revival of the tariff issue is so real that some prophets are revising their predictions of the 1936 campaign. There is at least a possibility that instead of extravagant federal spending and controversial new deal legislation, tariff will be the subject of popular argumentation next year.

As usual, the farm population is the determinative factor. Perhaps it will be possible again, as it was in 1911, to stir up agricultural resentment. President Taft's reciprocity agreement with Canada in 1911 set off a mighty political explosion in the agricultural states of the middle west and for the first time, which happens to be the section President Roosevelt is supposed to be wooing.

Tariff, because it is a local issue, cannot be settled on a national basis by the sweet persuasion of logic. It is doomed to be a narrow and bitter fight. Those who were gratified by the news of its death as a source of political controversy may discover to their chagrin that the report was grossly exaggerated.

To His Surprise.

George R. Johnson, director of tests and measurements for the St. Louis public school system, has discovered what, to him, are surprising facts about teachers' grading methods. Some of them are:

That there is no consistent standard of grading.

That teachers grade on their own opinion of the relative merit of their pupils' classwork.

That women teachers grade boys lower than men instructors grade them.

That girls get better classroom grades than boys, but that boys excel on general achievement tests.

That both girls and boys fall more frequently under women teachers than under men teachers.

Mr. Johnson was surprised to find out these things. More to his surprise, if he only could be made aware of it, would be the fact that millions of former little boys, who once bore the stigma of poor grades in school as bravely as they could, knew in their own hearts what he has just discovered. Their ability of "Teacher doesn't like me" wasn't so far fetched after all.

Neighborhood History

COUNTY DEBT IN 1853
Marion county's indebtedness in 1853 was $128,744.84, and consisted of five and six per cent bonds for road improvements. The bonds were to be paid by assessments on the lands benefited.

Waldo township had a debt of $1,600 in six per cent bonds for cemetery ground. This was to be paid by taxation. Six per cent bonds amounting to $13,000 for street improvements in the village of Marion was to be paid by taxation under a special act.

The village of Caledonia owed only $335 which was to be raised by taxation, while Prospect owed $400 in seven per cent bonds to be paid by taxation under a special act.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Thoughts while strolling: Gargle address: "Tusculum Lumber Co. Walla Walla, Wash." Joe Cook and his four children soda watering at Schrafft's. Somehow I always expect Norman Bel Geddes to be wearing a top hat. The last name: Ray Vir Din. Memory: "Maple Leaf Rag" on the mandolin.

Look alike: Frank Knox and W. W. Hawkins. And in a few more years Fred C. Kelly can pass for Dr. John Finley. Always a laugh to those sudden pictures in the Saturday Evening Post. At the end of a jazz story a cut of a rock Vermont farm. Or sunrise on the Amazon.

Whatever became of Ashton Stevens' club—made up of fellows who had fallen in love with Julia Marlowe? A derby named for Earl Carroll, who never wears a hat. Will Rogers' story suggests Maud Muller. Bernard Baruch has the erect, springy stride of the Indian.

Herb Roth's button nose and hippo shoulders. Never pass one of those dynamite wagons without expecting it to happen. A Bulka is the avenue's youngest looking septuagenarian stroller. Cornelius Vanderbilt always seems to waddle down the steps of his mansion. I'd stand and stare off a little.

Study in abeyance: Billy Rose. Dean Cornwell is the thin man of the illustrators. Churchill's old restaurant stands dark. Not many more popular in theater circles than Sam H. Harris. And such a glum, silent fellow, too. What became of saxophone tea? On second thought, never mind.

Oh! Bong dusted himself off from his Piffa de L'Opera explosion with little left but a philosophic smile and $16. It required only a few weeks to decide the fate of what was mirrored and chromolimed into New York's smartest restaurant. Too smart, too expensive for the times. To profit, the enterprise on the old Embassy site had to gross $1,000 daily. The first night's intake was $1,500, but never more than $500 after that.

That strange, residential looking cafe with high front fence, grass plot and signless, known merely as "No. 21," continues the current gold mine in caviar catering. It is cramped, awkwardly arranged and often drily, a hold-over from the tacky speakeasy era, yet it turns "people who matter" away almost daily. Indeed, a half dozen places in the crowded block of cafes were opened solely to catch the overflow from "No. 21." Among regular dining are John O'Hara, the novelist, Robert C. Bendley, Joseph Bryan III, Libby Holman and Heywood Brown.

The radio crowd is partial to a cafe called Lebus. Inc. fairly dripping Venetian blinds a few steps off Madison avenue in the 60's. Kate Smith is often there. Also Ted Husing, Burns and Allen, and Amos 'n' Andy. The proprietor is C. P. Lebus, a thin blade from the Kentucky Blue Grass. He specializes in the famous cured hams of his state and is reported to have started the black bean soup vogue, a potage long neglected but now on almost every swank menu.

I've wanted to talk to the red-eyed Niobe who takes seven dogs, ranging from Peke to Airdale, for an airing in the stifling dusk along the upper reaches of the park side of Fifth avenue near Carnegie. She is a shrewd Dickensian character, bobbing on a cane, but managing her lead strings with deftness of a Roman charioteer. Evidently too many question her, for she needs approach with forbidding awe. Who has, by the way, seen a Mexican hairless dog lately?

For realism in writing my choice is Conan Doyle. The way he could make the dark rooms of Sherlock Holmes mellow and inviting was sheer writing magic. When in London I, turn, a feeling I could stroll down Baker street, turn almost without looking into No. 221, walk up the stairs and meet, if not the great sleuth himself, at least the capable Mrs. Hudson, his housekeeper, or perhaps Watson warming himself with a whiskey and soda while awaiting the return of his celebrated friend. Too, no one could make an open fire place glow so entrancingly in print as Doyle. One could almost hear the crackle and hiss of logs and behold the shooting embers.

A great open fire always recalls Grandpa's hired man, Ed. I remember him last on one of those fallish mornings, rubbing his hands before the blaze and sighing: "This makes a feller think what he's done with his summer wages." (Copyright, 1935, McNaught Syndicate)

Behind The News In Washington and Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—If there are any doubts out in the country about President Roosevelt's reelection, there are none at the White House. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt has himself practically announced it the other day. His listeners failed to catch it, but in his speech to the mayors he said near the end: "I think the time is coming, not this coming (1936) session of congress, because we hope that it will be a very short session, but by the following year, when all of us can get together and sit around a table and work out a better system of taxation."

The year following 1935 is the one in which Mr. Roosevelt's present term expires at noon, Jan. 20.

Taxing
This might be written off as a tongue slip, except that a significant corresponding relaxation of tension has been noticeable inside the White House. It started about two weeks ago.

For one thing, Mr. Roosevelt went off to Warm Springs a few days earlier than originally planned. Also before his departure he had been leaving his office each day around 4:30 p. m. Instead of the usual 6 p. m. His associates have adopted a similar easing schedule. It is all apparently due to reports Mr. Roosevelt has received privately from his many political pupils. They have been telling him that the time which was running against him up to the time the last election returns were counted, has now begun to ebb. His agents apparently disregarded the New Literary Digest poll figures. They knew about these figures a week or 10 days ago.

The President gets to his office generally between 10:30 and 11 a. m. However, he starts each day about two hours earlier. Long daily sessions are still held with his breakfast cabinet, composed of Secretaries Early, Lehman and MacIntyre. They go over the morning papers, the guest list, plan the day.

Elaboration
The official inside excuse for the sudden decision to send Undersecretary Phillips to London is not only good, but too good. It is that Mr. Roosevelt does not know how much to spend on the navy next year. He is holding the budget open on that question while Phillips runs over to the naval conference to find out how much the others are going to spend. Then he will hasten back to tell President Roosevelt before the budget goes to congress.

The only thing wrong with that is Phillips does not know anything about naval expenditures. His fellow delegate, Admiral Standley, does. All that Phillips will find out in London about naval expenditures is what Admiral Standley will tell him. It would be much simpler for Standley to cable back the data in code. That would save Phillips a transatlantic trip.

The fact is far less excitement would have been created here about the last-minute decision to send a full-fledged diplomat to a technical naval meeting, if it had not been accompanied by such a jumbo super-colossal expenditure. Just as a case, if you want the real reason for the Phillips trip you had better look in a direction exactly opposite to that of London.

Far East
The best international authorities here would not be surprised if the whole Anglo-American Far Eastern policy were reorganized and perhaps reorganized suddenly one of these days.

The latest north China developments are considered of far more importance than the European situation. The passive stiffness policy does not seem to be satisfactory to many officials here. At the same time, they do not seem to favor any particular new policy. It may or may not be significant that the decision to send Phillips was reached the day after the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, called at the state department to talk again about the weather.

Fight
While it sounds as if the shouting is done there is underground work planned—in real bitterness. Sections of the liquor, lumber, dairy and coal industries are in start to move up in Canada. From the United States side the treaty is final but not so from the Canadian side.

Shortly after Jan. 1 the Canadian parliament will meet to ratify the trade agreement. Prime Minister King merely acted on his own hoping all will meet with the approval of Canada's governing body. We have yet to see if it will.

An adverse propaganda movement is to be started in Canada by those United States industries which will be hurt. To top that off congressmen in our own country are to be touched to get congress to act as soon as that body meets after Jan. 1. The fight has only started.

Failed
The coal industry doesn't benefit from the Canadian trade pact. That is the sore spot of American industry today, according to those who have employment figures.

If the 50 cents per ton tax had been removed by the pact it would have increased coal shipments to one time Canada took 5,000,000 tons of American coal a year. Now it only takes about 1,500,000 tons a year. Activity in the coal industry would also help railroads. Activity in the rail movements would force rail buying of more needed equipment. That in turn would help the steel industry. It would furnish jobs to hundreds of thousands of our unemployed. But the British are too smart for us. They didn't permit coal to go on.

Hoover Again

The choicest of Republicans have been upset again lately by private information that a former Hoover cabinet officer is approaching delegation pickers down south. Their information is that he is trying to arrange for unopposed designations to the next Republican national convention. If this particular person does the arranging, the Republican authorities suspect that the unopposed delegates will carry private instructions for Hoover.

However, Mr. Hoover's friend is not the only one in the south. An influential leader, not without funds, who might be described as an old guardman, is also at work there for unopposed delegates.

Not only from this, but from other inside developments, many well informed Republicans are beginning to believe that a heavy undercover struggle is on between the forces of Mr. Hoover and those of Charles D. Hillier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The United States-Canadian trade treaty is still the topic of conversation in New York luncheon clubs and banking offices. Of the pros and cons heard the cons make the greater noise.

International bankers say the new treaty is undoubtedly a step in the right direction which is the dissipation of trade restrictions as between nations. "It becomes increasingly evident that the United States must concentrate on the Western Hemisphere trade in the face of European nationalistic trends. The only way to encourage this trade is to make concessions."

Opposition is to develop from certain trade interests and their bankers. Yet the treaty stands as an accomplished fact. President Roosevelt has the power to sign and that's all there is to it.

Informed New York quarters say that similar treaties with Latin and South American nations are projected for the not distant future.

OLD FORT LAURENS
A half-mile south of Bolivar in Tuscarawas county may still be seen the faint outlines of a fortification that was constructed during the Revolutionary war—Fort Laurens. A canal bed was constructed directly through the site of the fort and this work, in addition to agricultural operations, practically obliterated earthworks of the structure. Only a trained eye could identify the place.

The fort was used by the American army when a detachment of a thousand men were sent into the Ohio wilds to subdue the Indians. The force invaded the territory and completed the fort before the redskins knew about it. Shortly after the fort was constructed the main body of the soldiers withdrew leaving the fort in command of Col. John Gibson and 150 men. The fort was besieged, but Col. Gibson by a ruse convinced the Indians he was well supplied with food and they withdrew. Shortly after this the fort was abandoned and never used again.

Tests
New Yorkers expect the revised AAA as well as the original act to be passed upon by the supreme court at this term. The solicitor general opposes a test of the revised version at this time, and the court will hear him this week.

The Tennessee valley authority act and the Bankhead cotton control act will be adjudged. The "government" that is the solicitor general—opposed the petition of Gen. Talmadge of Georgia in his suit to test the Bankhead act, urging among other reasons that the government cannot be sued without its consent. The court in this case holds otherwise—it permits Talmadge to sue.

It is usual to speak of the department of justice and its official spokesman before the supreme court as the "government" since it is the United States that is a party. But another branch of the "government" decides the issue.

Housing
Secretary Ickes' scheme to handle low cost operations through a corporation organized in Delaware has been upset by Comptroller General McCar's ruling and the corporation is in process of dissolution. The action came as no surprise to lawyers here.

A test of the government's power to exercise eminent domain within states is approaching the supreme court. Action on several low cost housing projects is being pending a decision. The question is whether commandeering land for low cost housing is taking it for a public use.

LEADER IN NEW YOUTH MOVEMENT SPEAKS HERE

Rev. Clifford Lewis of Montgomery, Ala., Remains Here To Farm Clubs in City and County.

Rev. Clifford Lewis of Montgomery, Ala., national president of the Young People's Fellowship club, who spoke last night at Calvary Evangelical church, will be in Marion today and Saturday morning to meet young people interested in the organization of clubs in Marion and vicinity. He is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lee of 209 Summit street whose son Edwin is professor of music at Bob Jones college at Cleveland, Tenn., where the Young People's Fellowship club movement originated. The college president, Dr. Bob Jones, is the founder of the club.

Last night Rev. Lewis talked to approximately 200 young people and adults from churches in Marion, Edison and Prospect, outlining the purpose of the club and closing the meeting with a talk on "Youths on the March," in which he expressed the urgent need for a worldwide revival to combat present-day influences, particularly in home life and the spread of communistic propaganda throughout the country.

Meets Young People
Rev. Lewis met afterwards with young people interested in organizing clubs.

He recommended that young people interested in the movement contact Miss Pearl Tuttle of Cardington who has been named state director.

The Young People's Fellowship club, he explained, is international and in no way connected with other youth Christian societies, but serves to build up interest in these organizations. Personal evangelism and daily Bible reading, prayer, attendance at religious services—particularly prayer meetings—and attendance at club meetings are the foundation of the organization.

Young People's Fellowship clubs, he explained, are strong factors against smoking, drinking, dancing and other "worldly pleasures," and its members are interested in establishing Christian homes.

He read numerous endorsements of the movement, including one from Dr. H. H. Savage of Pontiac, Mich., northern sponsor of the club, who became interested when he met Dr. Jones and found that the southern educator and evangelist had succeeded in establishing a young people's group which met with his ideas of such an organization.

No one in the organization, according to Rev. Lewis receives any salary, and "no one has any axes to grind."

Rev. Lewis denounced the Russian communistic creed which teaches there is no God, Bible or soul.

"We need a bloody banner today, too," he said, "the banner of Christ's blood."

"Christ or Chaos"
"It's either Christ or chaos, a revival or a revolution in this country," he continued, "and being a revival it must come through the young people."

Something is needed, he said, to counteract communism and atheism. He showed various clippings, pictures and communistic propaganda and said: "God and the Bible are our only hope. The minority of young people are getting fed up with canned substitutes that aren't real, that don't give them what they want—the old time religion."

The speaker went on to the parents and grandparents who are "running around, smoking, drinking, living in sin, staying out all hours," and said that the Young People's Fellowship club is against these things.

Preachers who give book reviews and political discussions from the pulpit instead of preaching the Bible were disapproved, because, Rev. Lewis said, "we need the gospel preached as never before."

"You have nothing to apologize for in being a Christian," he said, speaking of those who are called "narrow" and "cranks" because they do not follow the crowd today. "It takes narrow persons to follow the narrow path the Bible says leads to heaven, and it takes a crank to turn things," he said.

"Hold your head up, be sweet kind, Christian, showing that Jesus Christ means everything to you."

In closing Rev. Lewis pleaded for "consistent, consecrated, Christian life in the home" in which God is placed first in everything and all is yielded to God. "You won't get away from a Christian home," he said.

said, "you may drift away but you will come back."

A brief prayer service closed the meeting.

Rev. Davis Presides
Rev. William M. Davis, pastor of Calvary church, presided for the meeting which opened with a song service led by Mrs. Philip Bender, with Mrs. Helen Prettyman at the organ. Rev. I. H. Amore of Salem Evangelical church east of Marion and Rev. Oscar V. Latta of the Oakland Evangelical church sat on the platform with Rev. Davis, Rev. Lewis and Miss Tuttle. In introducing Rev. Lewis, Miss Tuttle gave a short history of the club which, she said, is for "the spiritual uplift of the church and community in which it is organized." There are about 10 clubs in Ohio at present, she said.

HEIDELBERG STUDENT DEFENDS MUSSOLINI
Claims War in Ethiopia Is Only Possible Solution of Italy's Problems.

By International News Service
TIFIN, O., Nov. 22.—"Mussolini is justified in his aggression in Ethiopia," Arnold Mancin, Heidelberg college student and former Italian navy officer, believes. Mancin took up the defense of the Italian policy in Ethiopia and showed why in his opinion, if Duce's war is the only possible solution of Italy's problems.

In explaining the situation in Italy and Ethiopia, Mancin cited six points in the status of affairs that lead directly to the present mobilization of Italy. They are:

1. Need for expansion because of over-populated country.
2. Italian colonies in constant danger from the Ethiopians.
3. Ethiopia needs social, economic, and political improvement.
4. Italy's attempts to cooperate with Ethiopia have met with sabotage.
5. England's machinations in Africa have proven dangerous to Italy's best interests.
6. Italy's conduct is not counter to the League of Nations.

Explaining the significance of these points, said Italy adopted military measures only when so forced.

FOUR LAST SECTION OF HARDING STADIUM

Work on Concrete Grid
Standards To Be Completed
by Dec. 20.

Work on concrete for the south section of Harding stadium was completed yesterday. The stadium, foreman in charge of construction, reported, a crew of approximately 60 men, working in two shifts, have been employed in the construction of the stadium. Finishing touches to the concrete work are expected to be completed about Dec. 20. The stadium is located on the north section have been permanently placed and similar work on the south section will be started as soon as the newly poured concrete has hardened. After a 21-day period forms will be removed from the south section and the work of polishing and rubbing the surface of the concrete will be started.

The stadium will have a total seating capacity of 2,200 when all the work is finished. The center section, first used for the dedication football game with Mansfield on Oct. 12, seats 1,337. Each of the two end sections has a capacity of 433.

Grading of the stadium athletic field, which includes two baseball diamonds and three tennis courts will be finished about the same time. A crew of 35 men, working in two shifts, are now grading and leveling the east portion of the field. The tennis courts have been completed and work of seeding the baseball diamonds is well under way.

MARION STUDENT IN O. W. U. ORCHESTRA

Frank Gegenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gegenheimer of 290 Franklin street, has been placed as a first violinist in the newly enlarged Ohio Wesleyan university orchestra, according to word from the Delaware school.

The orchestra will give its first concert of the season tonight, playing under the direction of Thomas Hibbard. Gegenheimer, a sophomore, is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

AID GROUP MEETS AT CONKLIN HOME

Mrs. William Klingel was a guest when Mrs. Clarence Conklin of Cherry street entertained the Ladies Aid society of the First Reformed church Wednesday afternoon. Two new members, Mrs. Catherine Goedicke and Mrs. Louise Barnhouse, were enrolled.

Mrs. Harry Zieg conducted the devotionals. Refreshments were served. A meeting Dec. 28 will be a Christmas exchange at the home of Mrs. M. B. Hale on North Prospect street.

HIGHWAY PATROL HEAD KIWANIS CLUB SPEAKER

Col. Lynn Black Describes Work and Duties of Patrolmen.

Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, addressed members of the Marion Kiwanis club on "Training a Police Officer," at their weekly luncheon meeting today at the Marion Hotel.

Col. Black explained the method of training the patrolmen, and outlined their duties and service to the state. After he closed his talk the colonel answered questions on the work of the patrol put to him by Kiwanians.

Gilmore Hiett, chairman of the publicity committee for "boy bean days," also spoke briefly in outlining the preparations being made for the celebration Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

Col. Black, although a young man, has been in police work 13 years. He was in the West Virginia state police five years before coming to Ohio. Later he was connected with the Hamilton county patrol, assuming command of the Ohio patrol when it was formed a little more than two years ago.

Training Is Important

The speaker stressed the training of men as one of the things he considered most important in building a competent police organization. When the patrol was formed a six weeks training period was set up as adequate, but at the present the several training depots give courses lasting 10 and 12 weeks, Col. Black explained.

Training includes motorcycle riding, first aid, state motor vehicle laws, and instruction in how to meet and treat the public. The latter Col. Black emphasized as an important feature of the instruction.

"Whenever possible the patrol enlists World war veterans because of their experience and their adaptability to discipline. Most of the veterans are past the age limit, however, or have families, and don't wish to be away from home so there are comparatively few in the patrol ranks, Col. Black said. The average age limit of patrol members is 28, the average height is five feet 10 and one-half inches. In building the force it is the aim of the patrol to authorize to have each county in the state represented in the organization. Patrolmen are paid $100 a month and all maintenance, including board and room. Salaries are increased with promotions.

Col. Black lauded the Marion police department and departments in other cities for the cooperation given the patrol.

He spoke of the daily toll taken on the highway by automobile accidents. "While we have not arrived at a general answer for this heavy toll," the speaker said, "we believe that after all it is the recklessness of individual motorists that is mostly responsible for accidents. A lot of us are always in a hurry on the highway even when we are going no place."

Arrests Made Judiciously

Arrests are made by patrolmen only for flagrant violations of the motor vehicle laws, Col. Black told his audience. Warnings are issued to minor violators, but it is not the purpose of the patrol to make wholesale arrests for petty offenses that in most cases are a result of the motorist not knowing he is committing the offense.

In speaking of the various justice of peace courts in the state where violators of the vehicle laws are arraigned after their arrest by patrolmen, Col. Black said the patrol is doing its best to eliminate the "bat courts"—those that are inclined to charge the motorist excessive fines and costs. He termed them "racket courts." "When we take a motorist to a justice of peace court and he is fined excessively in comparison to the offense committed, we cross that court off of our list and use another in the vicinity," he said.

The colonel closed his talk with a brief explanation of the value of radio in police work. "Radio is the last word in bringing about proper coordination of various police agencies," he said.

Some of the questions put to Col. Black after his talk, and the answers to them follow:

Q—Is the force of 120 patrolmen sufficiently large to cover the state properly? A—No. We really need about 250 men. However I am grateful to the people of Ohio for bringing our force up to 120 men in the two years the patrol has been in existence.

Q—In connection with his answer Col. Black said Pennsylvania has 334 state police and 550 highway patrolmen, Michigan 400, and Indiana 54.

Q—What are the major offenses for which the highway patrol makes arrests? A—Drunken driving, reckless driving and operating with improper license plates.

Q—Is a patrol force, such as the sub-station in Marion, limited to a certain territory? A—Yes, unless the patrolmen are on a chase, and in that event they can go any distance, even to entering another state. We get splendid cooperation from states bordering Ohio.

Q—Do you feel that the new requirement in Ohio that a motorist having a driver's license will help you much? A—Absolutely. One of the most important things it will do is to help identify the driver with the car he is operating.

Q—Will the driver's license law prevent me from driving a friend's car in view of the fact that my license would not tally with that of the owner of the car? A—No. You can drive any car provided you have your driver's license. We make other checks where there is suspicion that the car might be a stolen one.

Q—Are more accidents caused by fast drivers or by slow drivers? A—We find, especially on Sundays, that a third of the accidents on the highway are caused by slow drivers—those motorists just out for a pleasure ride who are rambling along at 25 or 30 miles an hour and gazing at the scenery and engaged in idle conversation. The fast driver is not necessarily a reckless driver.

Introduced By Chief

Col. Black was introduced by Police Chief William E. Marks. Gilmore Hiett, in his talk on "boy bean days" in December will draw more farmers from north central Ohio to Marion than any other three day celebration in the history of the city. He cited the benefit merchants will receive as a result of Christmas shopping done by the visitors. Mr. Hiett urged all Kiwanians to attend their luncheon Thursday, Dec. 5, when it is expected 17 newspaper editors and 80 grain elevator operators in this section of the state will be guests. Mr. Hiett said Old Fort Mills, Inc. is prepared to spend $400,000 within the next year in buying soy beans.

Guests at yesterday's luncheon were Rodney Fleming of Cuyahoga Falls, O., and George Kramer of Cincinnati, both Kiwanians, Harry Margwarth, Kiwanis president, presided at the luncheon meeting as chairman.

MRS. FRANK ANNEN HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Frank Annen was an associate hostess when Mrs. Frank Annen entertained Circle No. 1 of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at her home on Windsor street. Mrs. L. A. Robinson conducted devotionals and Mrs. S. L. Surface gave a short talk on the blessed communion held this year at Ashville, N. C. Refreshments were served. A meeting in January will be held with Mrs. Z. E. Houghton of Grand avenue.

MISSION SOCIETY ENROLLS MEMBERS

Misses Mary Jo Stafford, Grace Kline and Mary Cook were enrolled as members at a meeting of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society of Epworth M. E. church Wednesday night. Hostesses were Mrs. M. A. Hendel and Mrs. M. H. Winfers, who entertained the members at her home at 154 Lake street. Miss Mary McMahon was in charge of devotionals and Miss Helen Conolly presided for the program hour. Miss Conolly presented "Facing Tomorrow," a chapter from the society's study book, "Women Under the Southern Cross." Articles in keeping with the study topic were read by Mrs. Hamer Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Pace and Miss Kathryn Williamson. A social hour followed the program. Contests were won by Miss Conolly and Miss McMahon, Miss Mary Cook gave an informal talk, "Peace," during the serving of the refreshments.

Radio telephone service has been established between Marion and Tokyo.

Table Tennis In The Home

It has been estimated by the United States Table Tennis Association that there are 2,855,617 families in the United States who own Tables and equipment. Naturally such widespread popularity has produced many experts.

Table Tennis is a fast game, and the equipment should be an aid to speed. Here Durable design is an asset, for the steel reinforced top used on all Durable Tables gives resiliency. Any speed game which requires the players to strike a swiftly moving object requires good eyesight, and the dark "minty" green finish on Durable Tables is easy on the eyes.

Drudgery Ends! Life Begins With The HOOSIER-Aide

Going Modern? Of Course You Are!

Then why not start with the kitchen—the most used, the most discussed room of the house

- The drab, uninteresting, poorly-equipped kitchen has no place in today's program. The modern housewife has outside interests. She needs a kitchen in which she can do her work efficiently, but in minimum time. It must be as interesting and as attractive to her friends as other rooms of the home.
- You can have a modern kitchen TOMORROW by installing the Hoosier-Aide and its beautifully-matched companion pieces.
- Let us show you this new, more efficient kitchen-work center. See for yourself what a transformation you can make in your kitchen at small expense and on easy terms.

Cabinet, Side Cupboard, Porcelain-top Base, as well as the Breakfast Set and Buffet, are here for your inspection. They may be purchased separately or as a complete suite. You buy only the pieces you need to meet your own requirements.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MAN FLIES OVER WAR REGION

Sees Stretcher Bearers Carrying Wounded to American Hospital but Finds Gas Stories Mythical.

Editor's Note: James A. Miller, veteran Associated Press correspondent, was the first American newspaper man to fly over the northern front in the Italy-Ethiopia war, to describe the dramatic plan war. In the following dispatch:

BY JAMES A. MILLER
(Copyright, 1935, Associated Press)
ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 22.—I have just completed a 700-mile flight over the northern front, penetrating two-thirds of the way into Ogaden province right to the battle lines and south to Dagga Bur. During the outgoing and return flights, my plane paralleled Emperor Haile Selassie's giant, single-motored ship for parts of the journey, while he was making his first visit to the war zone.

Warned of Danger
Ras Nasibu, Ethiopian commander-in-chief on the northern front, and his aid, Wehla Pasha, former general of the Turkish imperial army and Dardanelles hero, warned me of the danger of being shot down by Italians. I flew over Goshaleh, which the Italians occupy, flying sufficiently high to outdistance Italian anti-aircraft fire.

From there, I flew to Dagga Bur, 150 miles northeast of Goshaleh, which is bombed daily by the Italians, and thence to Jijiga, 109 miles farther to the northeast and general headquarters for the Ethiopian southern armies.

The population of Dagga Bur, mistaking my plane for an Italian craft, fled the city.

Two Italian planes were reported to have preceded me over Jijiga and nearby Harar, flying to Diredawa to observe the movements of the emperor, who was preparing to return by air to Addis Ababa.

"Your flight is a highly dangerous one," said Ras Nasibu, "because the unlettered natives know only Italian planes. They will undoubtedly mistake your machine for an enemy plane and may attempt to shoot you down."

Told to Fly Fast
"I advise you to fly at the maximum speed of 200 miles an hour, maintaining the utmost height in order to avoid anti-aircraft guns and rifle fire."

"Yours is the first foreign airplane to enter this zone, which is far more dangerous than the northern front because the Italians bomb this area unceasingly daily and our hospitals are jammed with the wounded from air bombs."

When I took off from Jijiga for Dagga Bur, Ras Nasibu and Wehla Pasha appeared at the airfield to deliver a final caution and to say farewell.

Within a half hour I was flying over Dagga Bur, where Dr. Robert W. Hookman has the only American field hospital in Ethiopia.

The start and stripes fly proudly from Dr. Hookman's tent, warning the Italians that they must refrain from bombing this remote refuge.

Couldn't Land
Owing to the lack of an airfield and the presence of anti-aircraft equipment, it was impossible to land, but I could plainly discern stretcher bearers carrying wounded to Dr. Hookman's hospital, which is now the southernmost outpost of the Ethiopian army.

I found no gas cases whatever, which indicated the allegation that Mussolini was using chlorine or mustard gas was a pure myth.

South of Dagga Bur I was shown fragments of several Italian tanks which the Ethiopians captured and wrecked. The Ethiopians said they beheaded all occupants as an example of the fate they said awaited other Italians attempting to rob Ethiopia of its independence.

The whole vast Ogaden war zone is a barren, desolate forbidding waste with only scattering human habitations.

For thousands of square miles, the inhospitable and unproductive African plain is covered with cactus, brush and burlap remnants of one of the widest parts of the western United States.

No water is anywhere visible on the plains and the rivers are dried up.

Few Small Lakes
Only here and there does one see small fungus-covered lakes in volcanic craters, giving the land a pebbly appearance.

The utter flatness of the country is sometimes relieved by chains of grey, sun-scorched mountains and deeply scarred, dried up water courses.

SEC TO SHUN COURT CLASH WITH FIRMS

Will File No Criminal Action Against Companies Refusing To Register.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The securities commission will file no criminal proceedings against holding companies refusing to register under the holding company act.

Attorney General Cummings advised all United States district attorneys "to refrain from bringing or threatening to bring any criminal proceedings" under the holding company act.

In making that announcement today, the SEC added the companies which did register would lose no constitutional rights.

Several utilities companies have refused to register on the ground such a step would weaken their position in challenging the act's constitutionality. The commission's new rule states that if any court should hold the commission had no power to preserve the companies' legal rights, the registration statement would become null and void. In addition to this, the commission issued a five-point statement of policy, saying it will proceed promptly with administrative and enforcement but in an "orderly and economical manner."

"The commission will not harass the industry with a multiplicity of suits, the statement said, "and the commission will resist any effort that may be made to vex the government with a multiplicity of suits or to provoke litigation with a view of presenting the issue of constitutionality on the basis of an inadequate record or a record not fairly typical of the situations covered by the act."

SANDUSKY SOLDIERS' HOME 47 YEARS OLD

F. B. Bayes of Wauseon, Civil War Veteran, Was First To Enter Institution.

By United Press
SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 22.—The Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home here was first opened to the care of veterans 47 years ago.

It was on Nov. 18, 1888, that the first Civil War veteran was received at the institution. The first person to gain formal admission was Franklin P. Bayes of Wauseon, Fulton county, and his file case is "No. 1" in the institution's records.

Since that day 47 years ago, exactly 15,510 veterans have been admitted for either hospitalization or domiciliary care, records show.

Of the 17 members admitted the first day, all but four died in the home. However, Bayes, records disclosed, died four months after being admitted to the care of the institution, his death coming on March 4, 1893.

But a handful of Civil War veterans now make up the population of the home, the greater population being veterans of the World War with a scattering of service veterans on the record.

The rows upon rows of white markers in the cemetery continue to grow and attest to the falling off of the ranks of those who fought in the war between the states.

HOSPITAL CHANGES AT KENTON DROPPED

Sisters Decide Against Turning Institution into Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

Special to The Star
KENTON, Nov. 22—Sisters of Charity of Kenton hospital today announced definite abandonment of a plan for turning the institution into a sanitarium for tuberculous patients.

The natural flight of news and rumors from Kenton southward to southeast from Lake Erie across Ohio.

Under consideration for several weeks, the hospital board decided against the change as result of continued opposition of property owners of the neighborhood, it was said.

Commissioners of the four counties were in favor of the proposed 75-bed hospital and had tentatively agreed to send a major portion of their advanced tuberculosis patients here for $20 each a week.

Antonio will be continued as a general hospital, a statement from the Sisters of Charity set forth.

NEW LAKES SEEN HUNTERS' PARADISE

By The Associated Press
NEW PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22—James W. Stuber, veteran head of the education section of the state conservation department, believes the inland lakes to be created by the Muskingum conservancy district will provide a paradise for waterfowl hunters.

When the lakes are completed, Stuber predicted, they will form a mecca for sportsmen who heretofore have been required to travel long distances to deny themselves wing shooting.

The natural flight of geese and ducks from Canada southward is southeast from Lake Erie across Ohio.

Ohio State-Michigan Game in Saturday Grid Spotlight

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR SECOND TOURNAMENT OF GOLDEN GLOVES

Junior Chamber of Commerce To Start Registration of Boxers Next Week.

Announcement of dates for the second annual Golden Gloves tournament, sponsored this year by the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce, was made today by the committee in charge. The preliminary bouts will begin on Jan. 22 and 23 with the final rounds of the tournament to be held Jan. 25 and 26.

The committee composed of Hugh Wright, chairman, Edna Jenkins and Robert Heininger has appointed the fourth member of the group, Donald Crum, to take charge of registration and entries in the tournament.

Registration for entry in the tournament, open to all amateurs registered with the Ohio association of the American Athletic Union, will begin next week. The ring event is sanctioned by the A. A. U. and the entry of boxers in all weight divisions is anticipated.

PROBABLE ALL-AMERICAN CENTER

Conner Jones, shown above, is one of the almost sure bets for All-American honors. He is captain and center of the Ohio State team, and has been a pillar of strength on defense for the Scarlet Scourge this season.

BIG TEN HONORS AT STAKE; MINNESOTA TO MEET WISCONSIN

Bucks To Seek Second Consecutive Victory from Wolverines at Ann Arbor.

By The Associated Press CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The football exploits left in Big Ten arenas will be touched off tomorrow, probably with Minnesota and Ohio State accounting for the loudest reports.

If everything goes as expected on the final day of the campaign, Minnesota will defeat Wisconsin and Ohio State will take charge of Michigan to share the 1935 championship. The Gophers, rated as the midwest's most powerful aggregation, will be after their seventeenth consecutive triumph along with stretching their string of engagements without defeat to 24. There is no reason for thinking they can't do it at the expense of the Badgers.

Ohio State, its fine season marred only by that hectic Notre Dame defeat, figures to conquer Michigan for the second consecutive year. However, the Wolverines, always at their toughest against Ohio, might regain the form that brought victories over Indiana, Wisconsin, Columbia and Pennsylvania, to wind up with an upset victory.

Michigan's passing attack with Capt. Bill Renner to hurt the ball stands as the principal threat to an Ohio State triumph. Capt. Homer Jones, Ohio State center, whose defensive play has been out of the ordinary, is expected to lead the Bucks' efforts to smother the Wolverine aerial maneuvers.

While the other three games have no championship trimmings, there should be plenty of fireworks. Northwestern, the most improved team in the conference, tackles Iowa's always dangerous eleven at Evanston; Purdue and Indiana meet for possession of the "old oaken bucket" at Bloomington, and Chicago and Illinois play off another installment of their ancient series at Champaign.

The battle at Evanston promises to develop into a thrilling scoring affair, with slippery Oss Simmons and Dick Grayne, passing and Hawkeye attack, and blond Don Hup, Wally Cruise and Hugh Durbin, carrying the ball for Northwestern. Simmons made headlines for the first time against the Wildcats last year, running spectacularly to lead the Hawkeys to a 20 to 7 victory.

Jay Berwanger, the standout among a lot of Big Ten backs, will play his last game for Chicago. On his ability to shake loose reds Marion hopes for a victory. The Illini, however, will be favored mildly.

The Hoosier class has all the makings for a rousing struggle. Purdue has had its up and down, but appears to be up again. Indiana was near peak form in whipping Chicago last week.

WOLVERINES PIN HOPES ON RENNER

The often-injured Capt. William Renner, shown above getting ready to throw one of his famous passes, is the key man in the Michigan attack and directs his team from the quarterback position. Injuries kept him out all last year. (Associated Press Photo)

EVANS MAY BECOME ASSOCIATION HEAD AT $15,000 A YEAR

Boston's Wally Berger Wanted by Many Teams in the National League.

By The Associated Press DAYTON, O., Nov. 22.—Baseball's trade winds, which have waited during the last 24 hours, dwindled to a mere zephyr today as the minor league meeting drew toward its close.

Deals were in the making, but most of them will be kept under cover until the Dec. 10 major league session in Chicago.

Many of the more than 600 delegates left for home early today. After the annual banquet last night rumors ran rampant. One was that the American association would meet, or had already met, Billy Evans' demand for a five-year contract at $15,000 per year, to take over the presidency of the circuit.

Thomas Jefferson Hickey, founder and long-time president of the association, surrendered the reins yesterday to accept a life-time job as chairman of the league's board of directors.

Wally Berger, slugging outfielder of the Boston Braves, was the center of a lot of trade talk—and the big reason why numerous other swags had not been consummated. Every club in the National league would like to add Berger to its roster.

Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs was looking everywhere for a starting pitcher. He tossed Fred Lindstrom, Chuck Klein and Ted Stainback, all outfielders, on the block but found no takers.

At Simmons, White Sox gaudier.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT

Oregon Team Loses 28 Consecutive Games

By The Associated Press ALBANY, Ore., Nov. 22.—After losing its twenty-eighth consecutive football game and summing the national "championship" this season, bany college still wasn't licked.

The unwilling "heroes of fate" retained their spirit; the alumni were patiently waiting for the Pirates to win.

The Albany Pirates finished out of the morass with 19-0 win, over Pacific of Newberg, Ore.

But that was not until a after homecoming. Return graduates reviewed a string of consecutive defeats, followed a half-satisfying 7-7 tie.

seems headed for Detroit if Tiger can talk owner Walter Briggs into putting up the $100,000.

Buck Weaver To Wrestle Yaqui Joe Monday Night

Second Main Go To Feature George Craig and Mexican Pete at Shovel Gym Mat Show.

Marion wrestling fans will be presented with a pre-Thanksgiving treat next Monday night at the Shovel Gymnasium when Buck Weaver and Yaqui Joe exchange holds in one of the two featured bouts on the evening's card. In the other main bout, George Craig will meet the well-known Mexican Pete. Both main fights will be over the 30-minute route with the best two of three falls to win. The card is to begin promptly at 8:30 p. m. with a 20-minute preliminary match.

Weaver, the great Hoosier from Terre Haute, is back in the Shovel ring for the first time since he successfully defended his own middleweight championship title against Roy Allen in a match here two weeks ago. Weaver's outstanding trick in his famous drop kick, which he has used to great effect during his college and professional athletic career.

Yaqui Joe, the clever and aggressive Indian wrestler, was last matched here Oct. 29. At that time he handed a defeat to Tiger Moore by gaining the two deciding falls in double quick time.

According to advance report, the match Monday night will not be for the title which Weaver now holds. Yaqui Joe, at his present weight, cannot compete for it because the regulations bar anyone over the 168-pound mark.

In the second main go, George

ROSE BOWL TEAM CHOICE WIDE OPEN

By The Associated Press SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—With

ingness to take on any football team in the country if they win the western Rose Bowl, bid was expressed by rival coaches today as California and Stanford neared their "big game" tomorrow at Palo Alto.

The first official disclosure that parties which may be the most interested hold no brief for procedure which always has called for a visiting Rose Bowl contender from east of the Mississippi river was made by Coach Leonard (Stub) Allison of California and Claude (Tiny) Thornhill of Stanford.

32-ROUND RING SHOW READY FOR TONIGHT

Marion and Bucyrus Punchers To Take Part in Program at Shovel Gym.

Thirty-two rounds of first class boxing is on the program arranged for tonight at the Shovel gymnasium. Marion fans will see the Chocolate Kid of Columbus and Joe Smith of Akron trade punches in the eight-round main go. In a featured six-round match, Steve Barlow of Bucyrus will tackle Mike O'Dowd of Columbus.

Bob Greenland of Marion will fight in a six-round match with Kid Chudrick of Akron and Tiny Moore, also of Marion, will meet Steve Diamond of Akron in a four-round scrap. Sammy Jones, Marion's colored flash, will trade blows with Tony Cane of Akron in another four-round affair. Another four-round scrap will match Jack McCleary of Kenton with Art Maskey of Akron.

The fight card is to begin promptly at 8:30 with a three-round curtain raiser to feature two Marion fighters.

A speedometer has been invented that can register a skater's speed, which is shown on a dial to be held in a hand or fastened to a belt.

Philippine production of gold for a single month established a new high record in September with 112,000 tons of ore milled, yielding gold valued at 2,800,000 pesos.

Scoring Champ of 1908 One of Zeh's Admirers

By The Associated Press CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—Dr. L. R. Brigman, who established a football record in 1908 by scoring 22 touchdowns in nine games, is an ardent admirer of Ray Zeh, the Western Reserve fullback who is attempting to beat that record.

"I've watched Zeh perform several times this season," observed Dr. Brigman, "and I think he is one of the cleverest players in the game today."

About his own record, Dr. Brigman was extremely modest. "When I was playing," he said, "the game of football was a lot different than it is today. Touchdowns only counted five points. A team had to make only five yards, however, for a first down."

"But in those days we had to work a lot harder than they do today."

"There weren't any huddles," Dr. Brigman recalled. "As a matter of fact," said he, "we would be penalized for delaying the game if we attempted to huddle. The huddle, I believe, is an outcome of the big stadium."

Dr. Brigman said that Kenyon college team, on which he started as a 165-pound fullback, used a system whereby one set of signals sufficed for the next six plays. Zeh has counted 100 scoring points in eight games and leads the nation in scoring.
